The state highway commission has set May 1 as a tentative date for the formal opening of the new Missouri river vehicular bridge here according to W. H. Robinson state engineer. Plans for the formal dedication of the bridge were discussed by the state highway commission in meeting late yesterday. Tablets will be placed at either end of the bridge, probably containing the names of the county commissioners of Burleigh and Morton counties, the state highway commission and other officials and citizens who have rendered services in connection with the bridge. The dedication ceremonies will be in charge of the highway commission. C. A. P. Turner designer of the bridge, estimates that it will be virtually completed by November 1. There is some difference in the estimates of engineers as to the time the bridge will be finished according to Mr. Robinson. Should work be speeded to such an extent that the concrete flooring can be placed on the bridge before cold weather sets in the bridge may be available during the winter. There also is discussion as to the possibility of planking the bridge to make it available during this period.

Problem of Bill
One of the problems connected with the bridge is the raising of the grade on the west side of the river to the level of the end of the concrete approach. The Morton county commissioners have expressed doubt as to their ability to finance this work very this fall. They have like Burleigh county filed agreements with the state highway commission to provide a grade to the beginning of the concrete approaches to the bridge. Mr. Robinson said and the counties are expected to carry out their agreement. The Morton county commissioners are not expected to build a road from Mandan to the bridge but the highway commission expects Morton county to provide the grade to the approach.

All Steel Here Sept. 25
Erection Manager Strickland of the American Bridge company in conference with state officials told them that all steel for the bridge will have arrived by September 25. The first span is expected to be completed in two weeks. The first two trusses are expected to be completed by October 15. Rapid progress is expected to be made by the bridge company from now on. No delay is expected in obtaining materials or in the shipment of them the commission was informed.

1,000 KILLED IN RIOTING IN BRITISH INDIA

Anxiety Felt For Safety of English Men and Women in District

London, Aug. 26.—More than 1,000 lives, it is feared have been lost in the rioting in the Malabar district of British India, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay. Anxiety is felt for the English women and children in the outlying districts. Several railway stations have been wrecked. Twenty men of the Leinster regiment at Tirunangadi are reported to have been cut off. It is also reported, adds the message, that the rioting natives are working their way from the interior to Calcutta on the coast. The center of the riots appears to be in the district of North Ponnani 28 miles southeast of Calcutta. Many clashes with military forces have occurred. The outbreak is attributed in the British Indian quarters to the work of agitators among the natives in the districts.

HOLDS UP WORK
Marmarth, N. D., Aug. 26.—Work on Marmarth's new $140,000 school building will be halted as soon as the structure can be inclosed against the weather as the result of the recent ruling of the attorney general holding that school bonds sold to the state are void because the last legislature failed to pass a law making effective the constitutional amendment granting school districts the right to increase their indebtedness 5 percent by a majority vote.

WANTED FOR MURDER
Perth, Ill., Aug. 26.—A man named Pedro Guzman, wanted by the local police for the murder of his wife here early last winter. The woman was found lying dead in a room in the shack where she was employed. He threatened to kill her if she did not appear. Neighbors told the couple had frequently quarreled.

AMERICA IS STILL GOLDEN LAND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HARD-WORKER

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—Roy Dick Whittington late Lord Mayor of London. He ought to meet Maxwell M. Nowak (candidate for mayor in this city). They have much in common to talk about.

Right now the bells that ring courage and hopefulness into the ears of Whittington are calling Nowak and the country into witness the annual spectacle of a man lately an immigrant summoned to the mayoralty of one of the nation's greatest cities.

Nowak was born in Nowarac, Poland in 1885. Thus if the fortunes of politics go well for him he will have the added distinction of being the youngest mayor of any of the larger cities of the nation.

Father a Baker.
He came to this country when a boy the youngest member of a typical immigrant family. The father worked at his trade of baker and on a meager wage maintained his family. The children helping as they came of working age.

Maxwell Nowak went through the grammar schools into high school but before graduation left a school to go into the milling business with his father.

At 21 he became his father's partner and today in Hammond Ind. they have the fourth largest feed mill in the United States.

Heads Five Banks.
Nowak is president of five banks head of a big finance corporation identified with many of the big enterprises along the Niagara frontier and spends his leisure time impressing people of foreign birth that America is truly the land of opportunity.

The story of Nowak's rise is known to hundreds in Poland. In consequence he receives dozens of letters from overseas the theme of them all being this: Is America a good land for me?

Nowak has a stereotyped answer to this. Done in leather and gold it is.

United States Authorities Preparing For Swindle Case Prosecution

Chicago, Aug. 26.—With stocks, bonds, notes and certificates of deposit with a face value of $30,000,000 in his possession, Colonel John V. Clinch, assistant United States district attorney and government agent, today began the task of identifying and marking the thousands of exhibits which comprise the case of the alleged $50,000,000 "swindle trust," headed by Charles French and John W. Worthington.

Federal agents are sorting through the immense piles of papers in search for a code book, which will reveal the secret notation in an elaborate prospect list surrendered Wednesday at Milwaukee by Alva Harshman, another of those under arrest.

TREASURER MUST TURN BACK FUNDS

Minot, N. D., Aug. 26.—Under an order handed down by Judge Lewis in district court, thirteen banks of Burleigh county and Lawrence Larsen, former treasurer, are required to pay to the county funds amounting to about $144,600. The funds had been placed on certificate of deposit in the banks by Larsen shortly before he gave up his office. The judge held the county had actual need of the money.

America treat those fairly who treat America fairly. If you cannot play the game on that basis do not come.

Perhaps this is why the American-born warm to him. Perhaps this is why his majority boom started not among the people of his own nativity but among the members of the Corn Exchange some of Buffalo's big business men.

GERMAN PEACE PARLEY LEADER ASSASSINATED

Mathias Erzberger, Storm Center in Empire's Political Life, is Killed

NEGOTIATED WITH FOCH

Aroused Storm of Protest When He First Proposed to End the War

Berlin, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—Mathias Erzberger former Vice-Premier and Minister of Finance, was murdered today.

Herr Erzberger was a assassinated near Offenbach Baden where he was sojourning with his family. His body contained 12 bullet wounds.

Mathias Erzberger, when German Vice-Premier and Minister of Finance, was shot and wounded on January 25, 1920, as he was leaving the criminal court building in Berlin after attending a hearing in a libel suit he had brought against Dr. Karl Helfferich, the former German Vice-Chancellor.

His assailant gave his name as Oltwig von Hirschfeld, a former cadet officer, 20 years old a student, and son of a Berlin bank official. Von Hirschfeld was arrested and was quoted as saying he considered Erzberger dangerous to the empire. The assailant fired two shots at Erzberger as the Minister was entering his automobile. One bullet glanced off the Minister's watch chain and another entered his shoulder.

First Proposed Peace.

Erzberger roused a storm in Germany in July, 1917, more than a year before the armistice, by proposing a resolution in the German Reichstag in favor of a peace without annexations and for parliamentary reform. Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg declared this formula was unacceptable and Dr. Helfferich subsequently blamed Erzberger's peace proposal for the moral collapse of the German people.

As a member of the German armistice delegation Erzberger conducted negotiations with Marshal Foch and later headed the Majority Socialists in a movement to form a new ministry and sign the peace treaty. His attitude throughout the armistice negotiations aroused against him the indignation of German military authorities and in June, 1919, it was reported that his residence had been fired upon by a Berlin mob. A plot said to have been formed by members of the officers' corps at Potsdam to assassinate him was revealed in September following.

Son of Tailor

Born in Buttenhausen, September 26, 1875, Erzberger was the son of a poor tailor. He became a schoolmaster, obtained a university education, studied international law and political economy, wrote several books on political and economic subjects and became a brilliant speaker and politician. He was elected to the Reichstag in 1903 as member of the Center (Catholic) party, as representative of small farmers and became one of the leaders of a small liberal wing of that party.

HEBRON STRUCK BY BIG STORM; LOSS $75,000

Losses which may total $75,000 to $100,000 were caused in the vicinity and north of Hebron 50 miles west of here late yesterday afternoon by a terrific wind hail and rain storm according to word received here. Reports of scores of barns were torn off while the grain unthreshed stacked in the fields was in many districts blown away and becomes a total loss. In the city of Hebron the roof of the Hebron Fire and Pressed Brick company was blown off and the tents of a carnival attraction were blown down causing heavy loss. The roof of C. B. Smith was destroyed by fire shortly after the storm.

DAIL EIREANN REFUSES PEACE ON DOMINION BASIS AND DE VALERA URGES PARLEY ON NEW PRINCIPLE

Answer to Lloyd George Says Ireland is Willing to Negotiate Further on Basis of Principle of Government by Consent of Governed and Asks Representatives with Plenary Powers be Named to Try and Reach Agreement

Dublin, Aug. 26.—The reply of Eamonn de Valera to Premier Lloyd George sums up southern Ireland's position on an Irish settlement which is and must remain unchanged, Mr. de Valera declared in addressing the Dail Eireann today.

The Dail reelected Mr. de Valera and the members of the cabinet. It also sanctioned loans of $500,000 sterling in Ireland and $20,000,000 in America.

London, Aug. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—The British government peace proposals were laid before the Dail Eireann which rejected them unanimously but which is willing to negotiate on the principle of government by consent of the governed, Eamonn de Valera says in his reply to Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister.

The letter proposes that Great Britain and Ireland appoint representatives with plenary powers to negotiate details on this principle.

BAR OFFICERS OF SHUT BANKS FROM NEW ONES

State Guaranty Fund Commission Announces New Policy Decided Upon

REASONS FOR IT GIVEN

Says That Effort of Some Stockholders to Evade Responsibility is Cause

Officers and stockholders of closed banks will not be permitted to engage in the banking business until the depositors of the closed banks are paid without recourse to the Guaranty Fund Commission if the commission can prevent it.

This decision of the commission is announced in a resolution made public today following the meeting at the state capitol. It was stated that there were instances where it appeared that the officers and stockholders of closed banks appeared to try to evade their obligations by throwing their banks on the Guaranty Fund commission and starting new ones.

The board decided also at its meeting to defer payment of depositors of the Tolley State Bank the first of the banks to close last fall. It was stated that the decision was not made because of a condition existing in Tolley similar to that which prompted the resolution adopted regarding opening of new banks. The reason for deferring payment was not made public.

It is probable that some difficulty will be met in attempting to carry out the resolution under existing laws. It is frankly admitted by the guaranty fund board members that the present laws a bank may be incorporated as any other state business institution. The Secretary of State issues a charter upon filing of incorporation papers. The charter is sent to the state examiner who is required to check the accounts of the proposed new bank and give the charter to the officers.

The plan adopted by the board to prevent opening of banks of the class it designates is to have State Examiner O. E. Loftis, refuse to surrender the charter issued for the proposed new bank or make the examination required before opening. The officers of the proposed new bank would be compelled to resort to court action.

Resolution of the Board
The resolution adopted by the board follows:

Whereas it appears in this commission that in some instances officers and stockholders of closed banks do not possess a proper sense of their responsibility toward the depositors of such bank and toward those who contract to do business with the bank and become liable on individual contracts in such new banks.

Therefore be it resolved that it be the sense of this commission that former officers and stockholders of failed banks be not permitted to either directly or indirectly become incorporated in such new banks.

Payment of depositors of the closed bank shall only be made after the new bank has been opened and the depositors of the closed bank have been paid.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 10 to 2. The dissenting vote was cast by Mr. Loftis and Mr. Loftis.

Mr. Loftis said that he was not in favor of the resolution because it was not in the interest of the depositors of the closed banks.

Mr. Loftis said that he was not in favor of the resolution because it was not in the interest of the depositors of the closed banks.

EXTENSION OF CREDIT URGED FOR NORTHWEST

Joint Statement Issued in Minneapolis Touching on Situation

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Further extension of credit, and not general liquidation, "is the only possible course in dealing with the agricultural situation in the Northwest this year," according to a joint statement issued today by the Minnesota state department of agriculture, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and P. H. Trowbridge, of Fargo, director of the North Dakota Agricultural College Experiment Station.

The statement declared that "predictions that the grain crop in the Northwest this year will reach 80,000,000 bushels, and the consequent liquidation of farmers' obligations made last week by the Ninth District Federal Reserve Bank are unwarranted and colored by desire for settlement of outstanding debts."

"General liquidation from the agricultural district this fall is utterly impossible," the statement continues. "Reports on threshing show that the August 1 estimate of the United States department of agriculture were too high rather than too low. The time has come for the Northwest to face the situation squarely. If an attempt is made to force liquidation the agriculture of the Northwest will be seriously crippled."

frauding banks through the issuance of worthless checks.

An operative of a private detective agency, who made the arrest, declared charges against the men in other states, including Kansas, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Texas, involving alleged crimes through which a total of not less than $20,000 was obtained.

Capron was said to be a brother of George Capron, former all-American full back at the University of Minnesota and later high school football coach here.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR EXISTS IN ISLANDS

Honolulu, T. H., Aug. 25.—Shortage of labor in the coffee and tobacco industries of Hawaii has become so acute that the trustees of the Bishop Estate, one of the largest land-owning combinations in the islands, have suspended all rent collections from tenant-farmers for the period of one year, beginning last January 1, and for as much longer as the situation warrants. It was announced here recently. Stagnation has seized the industries due to labor shortage and sharp declines in prices offered for the crops, it was said.

The suspension order affects 235 tenants, occupying approximately 2,000 acres of coffee and tobacco lands, the trustees said. Since the first of the year their rents aggregated approximately $7,000 and will total more than $13,000 for the entire year of suspension, the trustees said.

BODIES TAKEN TO SO. DAKOTA AFTER INQUEST

Committee of Citizens Escort Remains of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. B. Gage Home

JURY RENDERS VERDICT

The bodies of Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Gage, who were killed at Sterling Tuesday, were taken to Aberdeen, S. D., last night on No. 4, following the holding of an inquest. Messrs. Erwin and Lundgreen, representing the Presbyterian church of Aberdeen, of which Rev. Gage was pastor, were present during the inquest and accompanied the body to Aberdeen. E. M. Thompson, chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias lodge of Bismarck, aided in the arrangements for shipping the bodies. Rev. Gage having been a member of the order in Aberdeen.

The inquest held last evening developed no new facts. Members of the train crew, section foreman and others were present. There was no eye-witness of the accident. Engineer Stark said that he saw the automobile approaching the crossing, that it was going slowly and that he thought that the driver was going to stop. He did not see the engine strike the automobile.

The coroner's jury, composed of W. P. Knott, Jr., A. Risem and Grant McDonald, rendered the following verdict:

"We, the coroner's jury, find that Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Gage, of Aberdeen, S. D., met their death by accidentally being struck by engine of Northern Pacific Coast Limited No. 1 (west bound) in charge of Engineer F. W. Stark, of Jamestown, N. D., while the said Rev. and Mrs. Gage were attempting to cross the N. P. railroad crossing in an automobile at Sterling, N. D., Burleigh county, N. D., at or about 11:15 A. M., on August 23, 1921, traveling south on the road known as the 'Red Trail'."

Rev. and Mrs. Gage had no children. As pastor of the Presbyterian church Rev. Gage had become one of the most influential citizens of Aberdeen, the committee from that city said.

PRATER NAMED COMMISSIONER OF LAND BOARD

State Board Makes Appointment Today; Succeeds A. D. Gunderson in Office

FOR A TWO-YEAR TERM

William Prater, former Burleigh county manager for the Nonpartisan league, today was named state land commissioner by the Board of University and School Lands, in session at the state capitol, for a two-year term from September 1, at a salary of $3,000 per year.

Prater succeeds A. D. Gunderson. Prater was nominated by Auditor Poindexter and Governor Frazier and Attorney General Lemke voted for him. Miss Nielson nominated Mr.

Gunderson and voted for him. No explanation was given for the change.

Prater formerly was land commissioner when the Nonpartisans controlled the board. He was employed in the Home Builders Association before becoming county manager for the league, and was clerk of the senate for the second time last winter. Since the legislature adjourned he has been employed by the Industrial Commission to edit proof on the senate journal containing the voluminous investigation reports.

Mr. Gunderson succeeded Prater in the position two years ago. His home is in Jamestown. Mr. Gunderson said that he had not made plans for the future. Mr. Gunderson has been active in Masonic circles during his period of residence in Bismarck.

BENEFIT DANCE LARGEST AFFAIR OF THE SUMMER

The benefit dance given by the Business and Professional Women's clubs at the McKenzie roof garden last night was more largely attended than any dance given in recent months, about 400 people being present. Several parties of people from neighboring cities motored in for the dance.

One of the pleasant features of the evening was the singing of Miss Joan Callahan, of Spokane, Wash. who is a guest of friends at Wilton. Miss Callahan, a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music of London, possesses a rich contralto voice and was repeatedly encored.

The committee in charge of the successful affair was composed of Mrs. Florence Davis, chairman, Miss Daisy Welch, Mrs. Edwin M. Stanton, Miss Madge Runey, Miss Katherine Mosbrucker and Miss Hazel Hendershott. The use of the roof garden and the music was donated by E. G. Patterson, proprietor of the McKenzie. The dance committee served loganberry trappes, having placed a serving table in the center of the dance floor.

Among the out-of-town guests for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stewart, the Misses Callahan, Mrs. Golding and Mrs. Macomber of Wilton, and Mrs. Walter Taylor, of La Moure, a guest of her sister, Miss Leila Dieken, and Miss G. P. Healy of Devils Lake, a member of the Business and Professional Women's clubs in that city, who is a guest of Miss Henrietta Beach, and Miss Oscar Barnes of New York, who is a guest of her sister, Mrs. James Wakeman.

The committee announced that $235 was realized from the dance, after the expenses were met, the money being divided between the swimming pool fund and the children's library fund.

PIONEER LADIES ENTERTAINED
Mrs. O. R. Barnes entertained a group of the Pioneer ladies at a boiled dinner at her home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Barnes was assisted in serving the dinner by Miss James Wakeman and Mrs. J. B. Taylor of Wilton. Mrs. Dunn, who has been ill for some time was able to attend the dinner. She was taken to the Barnes home in her wheel chair. Mrs. W. Macomber and Mrs. J. B. Taylor of Wilton were the out of town guests.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER
Mrs. W. E. Breen entertained at dinner yesterday at her farm home north of the city in honor of Mrs. Shansey of Chicago who has been a guest of the Breen family for several days. WHERE THE TRIBUNE STANDS
The Editor of the Courier-News seems worried over the attitude of The Tribune toward the recall. He should not be. We have opposed the recall from its very inception, but that has not altered our views at all of the industrial program. The Tribune is opposed to the whole scheme of state ownership and stands where it has always stood.

True it supported O'Connor and Langer at the primaries and general election and probably under similar conditions would do the same again. But the approaching election is not a primary or a general election—it is a recall. The Tribune is opposed to the initiative, referendum and recall regardless of candidates, programs or exigencies. It has no time or patience for these political slapsticks.

As for the program of state owned utilities The Tribune has never been keen for such enterprises. It believes in cooperative effort of the farmers, not agrarian paternalism in the form of special legislation and state subsidies.

There are no other reasons than these why The Tribune is not a militant advocate of the I. V. A. program. It opposes the entire scheme of initiated laws as unnecessary and vicious. If the I. V. A. wins the election it needs none of the initiated laws. Under the present laws, the industrial program can be restricted, scrapped or expanded. The initiation of a group of very questionable laws is supreme folly, but doubtless none of the program proposed by the I. V. A. will be abandoned.

We quote from a recent editorial of The Courier-News which seeks to impugn the attitude of The Tribune and we trust this comment will set the editor right:

"The Bismarck Tribune is not supporting R. A. Nestos. The Tribune, according to report, answered Mr. Nestos' plaint by saying that it is opposed to public ownership. Mr. Nestos, on the other hand, professes to be for the carrying out of the farmers' program, and giving it a fair trial. Therefore The Tribune cannot support him.

"As a matter of fact there are doubtless other reasons for The Tribune's attitude. It supported Langer and O'Connor, tho they both professed also to be in favor of the farmer's program. And the Fargo Forum, which is as much opposed to the farmers' program as the Bismarck Tribune could possibly be, is for Nestos. The Forum knows, as The Tribune also knows, that whatever Nestos' professions of friendship for the program, he is at heart opposed to the program. His support of the I. V. A. initiated laws prove that."

RAINBOW CHASERS

Old-timers who headed the Klondike gold rush in 1896 hold a reunion in Dawson, city of the far-north Canadian Yukon. They celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first rich strike of Klondike gold on Bonanza Creek.

There was adventure for you—the only really big gold strike since the Forty-Niners went overland in prairie schooners to California.

Thousands perished in the Yukon snows, seeking gold.

Yet the greatest amount of the yellow metal ever taken out of the Klondike in a single year was $22,000,000 in 1900.

Klondike took more in human life than it gave in wealth.

Generally it's that way with rainbow chasing. It costs more than it's worth.

The old-time "sour-dough" prospectors, celebrating in Dawson, must speak in hushed voices about "Skookum Jim" Mason.

Skookum Jim, a Siwash Indian, discovered the gold fields of Klondike.

Prospecting with his brother, "Cultus Charlie," and with "Siwash George" Carmack, Skookum Jim, while his companions slept, went down to a creek, by an old birch tree, and panned a handful of gold from the gravel in a few minutes.

The world went gold mad when the news traveled out.

Skookum Jim took a steamer to Seattle and spent $100,000, buying everything that caught his eye.

Five years ago, this discoverer of the Klondike died a pauper. He was a rainbow-chaser.

As in all gambling games, as in all rainbow-chasing, the majority of the Klondike gold seekers came home empty.

Pondering this, you reflect that rainbow-chasing rarely pays.

The best opportunities are at home. There's further food for thought, in that time has shown there is a thousand times the wealth in the furs, salmon, timber and oil of Alaska and the Yukon than there ever was in gold.

That's the way. Many seek gold—the easy money. But the real wealth is in hard work, useful service and the unromantic but profitable necessities of life.

HA! HA!

The University of Koenigsburg has conferred the degree of doctor of medicine on Field Marshal Ludendorff. It has also given him a diploma, which calls him "the master of strategy, whose marvelous strategic skill saved the lives of uncountable warriors from death by the enemy's fire."

Germany's death toll in the war was 1,800,000 and her wounded numbered about 5,000,000. Ludendorff, "doctor of medicine and strategist!" Can you beat that?

COMPLIMENT

The suggestion that the United States guarantee whatever settlement of the Irish problem is finally agreed to, reminds us of a story.

A colored gentleman was approached on the street by a stranger who asked him if he had a dollar he would lend him.

"No, sir, I hasn't," was his answer, "but I thanks you for de compliment."

CHEAP FOOD

Melons are being fed to hogs out in Arkansas. At the other end of the line city folks are paying big prices.

The trouble? Freight and express rates so high they're prohibitive.

Plenty of food in the country. Cheap food, too. All that's wrong is the distributing system.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH KANSAS?

Twenty-five years ago today the Gazette first got its nose above water. An article appeared that day in the Gazette entitled "What's the Matter With Kansas." It was just the ordinary run of editorial copy, written to keep editorial going on the hook when the editor was leaving for Colorado. But it "caught on." It was copied all over the country. The national republican committee used it as a campaign document and Chairman Mark Hanna said it was more widely circulated than any other document used in the campaign. That was a long time ago. The editorial was a yawp against Populism. Populism came and rose and declined and fell and is now only a memory; yet the things the old time Populists demanded have for the most part been granted in one shape or another. The leaders disappeared, but the ideals remained. The editorial in question was in part as follows:

What's the matter with Kansas?

We all know, yet here we are at it again. We have an old mossback Jacksonian, who snorts and howls because there is a bathtub in the statehouse; we are running that old jay for governor. We have another shabby, wildeyed, rattlebrained fanatic who has said openly in a dozen speeches that "the rights of the user are paramount to the rights of the owner"; we are running him for chief justice, so that capital will come tumbling over itself to get into the state. We have raked the ash heap of human failure in the state and have found an old hoopskirt of a man who has failed as a businessman, who has failed as an editor, who has failed as a teacher, and we are going to run him for congressman-at-large. He will help the looks of the Kansas delegation in Washington. Then we have discovered a kid without a law practice and have decided to run him for attorney general. Then, for fear some hint that the state had become respectable might percolate through the civilized portions of the nation, we have decided to send three or four harpies out lecturing, telling the people that Kansas is raising hell and letting the corn go to weeds.

We need more men who are "posted," who can bellow about the crime of '73, who hate prosperity and who think that because a man believes in national honor that he is a tool of Wall Street. We have had a few of them, some 150,000, but we need more. We need several thousand gibbering idiots to scream about the "Great Red Dragon" of Lombard Street. We don't need population, we don't need wealth, we don't need well dressed men on the streets, we don't need cities on these fertile prairies; you bet we don't. What we are after is the money power.

Give the prosperous man the dickens. Legislate the thriftless man into ease; whack the stuffing out of the creditors, and tell the debtor who borrowed money five years ago, when money "per capita" was greater than it is now, that the contraction of the currency gives him a right to repudiate.

Whoop it up for ragged trousers, put the lazy, greasy fizzle who can't pay his debts on an altar, and bow down and worship him. Let the state ideal be high. What we need is not the respect of our fellow men, but a chance to get something for nothing.

Oh, yes, Kansas is a great state!—Emporia, Kan., Gazette.

REVIVE ANCIENT CEREMONIES OF ARIKARA INDIANS TO PRESERVE THEM FOR FUTURE USE OF SCIENTISTS

Ancient Rituals of Arikara Nation Are Repeated at Fort Berthold

EASTERN SCIENTIST HERE

Records to be Preserved in Museum of Natural History in New York

The curator of the State Historical Society has just returned from the Ft. Berthold reservation, where he has been making records of some ancient rituals of the Arikara nation. The work was done for the State Historical Society in co-operation with the American Museum of Natural History of New York City. Dr. P. E. Goddard and Miss Reichard of that institution, together with Mr. George F. Will and Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore constituted the working staff.

Through the efforts of Dr. Gilmore of the Historical Society and of Mr. Alfred Bear of the Arikara nation these performances were given this year, being the second time only in forty years. These beautiful observances which have grown up in the ages of ancient Arikara civilization and culture, and which compare favorably in skillful dramatic presentation, spectacular interest, and reverential solemnity with the best in our own culture ought to be fostered and preserved.

The Arikara as well as other tribes of the Plains formerly observed seasonal celebrations of ritualistic ceremonies designed to give thanks to Divine Providence for past blessings upon themselves individually and upon their nation, and seeking to come into fullest accord and harmony with the scheme of Providence in nature, to put themselves in tune with the infinite.

Three Days' Celebration

These ceremonies are inspired with religious fervor, poetry and dramatic art. They have something of the nature of the miracle plays of the Christian church of Europe in the middle ages.

The three days' celebration given this year was divided into three parts. On Monday, August 15, was the preliminary ceremony. This was for the purpose of preparing and spiritually purifying priests and people for the ceremonies which were to come. It consisted of prayers and songs of invocation and a stately dance or march such as was common in ancient Egyptian, Hebrew and Greek priestly ceremonies.

The events of the second day were the consecration and erection of the Sacred Cedar Tree, emblem of everlasting life. The tree had previously been cut in the Bad Lands and brought to a place on the prairie some distance from the lodge. The priests marched out to the tree, sanctified and erected it. Prayer was then offered and the Holy Cedar was addressed in the words, "Now is the time we are going to take you up. We shall have joy today, and you are now joined with us. You shall partake of our joy!" Then it was again laid down and taken upon the shoulders of priests in procession to the lodge where it was finally erected.

The fraternities of the nine priestly orders of the tribe took part in the ceremonies each day. The members of these orders were painted and dressed to represent the animal patrons of their orders.

Mother Corn Ceremony

On Wednesday, August 17, was celebrated the Mother Corn Ceremony. This ceremony properly belongs to the springtime in preparation for the blessing of the fields and of planting them, but has been mostly suppressed by the assumed power of the government since Indians have been living in subjugation upon reservations. Dr. Gilmore procured its celebration at this time in order to make historical and scientific records. He furnished the necessary provision for the community dinner which is a part of the celebration, and had a Sacred Bundle opened for the performance of the ritual. Each subdivision of the Arikara nation had its Sacred Bundle, which bears analogy to the Ark of the Covenant of the Hebrews.

Every Sacred Bundle contains a Sacred Pipe which is used in ceremonies. While each Sacred Bundle has its own ritual, still the Mother Corn Ceremony in all essentials can be performed by any one of the Sacred Bundles.

The several fraternities of priestly orders are stationed at their proper places in the lodge, the chief priest of the celebration and his assistants at the altar in rear of the Sacred Bundle. Before the altar is placed a stalk of corn representing Mother Corn. The man who has asked to have the ceremony performed has his station at the right hand side of the lodge as one looks from the altar.

On the morning of this day the man who has asked for the ceremony comes into the village carrying on his shoulders an offering from the kill which he has made, to be devoted to the ceremony. He was accompanied by his assistants singing the songs of devotion. The part of the carcass which he carries to the altar consists of the tongue, gullet and trachea, heart and lungs in one piece. The carcass has been ceremonially divided into 16 parts. The man who is asked to have the ceremony performed carries his offering thus in procession through the village, into the lodge, and comes to rest before the altar. There he lets go of his offering and allows it to drop from his shoulders before the altar. About the fireplace in the center of the lodge are ranged 16 sandbar willow withes, with twigs and leaves left on the tops and the base of each thrust through a small piece of meat from the devoted carcass. At each one of these withes is stationed a boy, who is instructed by the priest as to the duty he is about to perform.

Holy Procession.
Then the chief priest and his assistants take up the portion, tongue, heart and lungs which had been left before the altar. They carry it in procession out of the lodge to a place beyond the Holy Cedar tree and there lay it down. It is then consecrated and devoted to the ruler of the Universe and to the Heavens. The 16 boys carrying the 16 withes bearing bits of meat station themselves in a semi-circle between the lodge entrance and the Holy Cedar. When the ceremony of the consecration is performed the boys speed away in all directions from the village as they have been instructed, to carry and place away somewhere on the prairie the bit of meat upon its withes and to say his own prayer of devotion. These 16 portions are devoted to all the living things on the earth, the plants and trees, birds, mammals, fishes, etc., and to the mountains, rocks, springs, streams, lakes, etc., as the tongue, heart and lungs were devoted to the Powers of the Heavens.

Then the people reassembled in the lodge and women came in bringing gifts. The donors were blessed and the gifts carried to the altar and placed under the stalk of Mother Corn for all gifts of the occasion are made in the name of Mother Corn to be distributed by the priests to the poor and deserving.

Dramatic Dance.

A dramatic dance was then given to represent the preparation of the ground and cultivation of the corn. Women performed this dance, using bone hoes of the ancient pattern. After the dance representing agricultural work there was one to represent the buffalo hunt with ancient bow and arrows for providing the meat supply. At this point some of the older women were overcome by their emotions at having thus brought atreth to their minds the great changes which have come and the many sad experiences of their people. They wept and wept, unable to restrain their tears. Some of them went up to the altar and there wept. The fire-tender attended them and wiped away their tears, which he symbolically offered to Mother Corn at the altar.

Then the women gathered before the altar and paid reverence to Mother Corn, taking the relic ears from the Sacred Bundle into their hands and devoutly caressing them. They then danced before the altar to the singing of hymns to Mother Corn.

After this dance the man who was having the celebration performed, in the person of his substitute ceremonially lighted the relic pipe pertaining to the Sacred Bundle. The pipe was smoked to all the powers and each chief priest in turn smoked, putting the mouthpiece to the lips of his confreres; so that all, and their people with them, might be brought into communion and harmony with one another, and with all the universe. After the communion smoking the Sacred Pipe was reverently emptied and returned to the Sacred Bundle.

Hymns Sung.

The translation has not yet been worked out for the Arikara hymns to Mother Corn, but similar hymns to Mother Corn from the Pawnee nation have been translated as follows:

Hymn to Mother Corn.

I.
Mother with the life-giving power now comes.
Stepping out of far-distant days she comes.
Days wherein to our fathers gave she food;
As to them, so now unto us she gives.
Thus she will to our children faithful be.

II.
Mother with the life-giving power now comes!
Stepping out of far distant days she comes.
Now she forward moves, leading as we walk
Toward the future, where blessings she will give.
Gifts for which we have prayed granting to us.

Mother with the life-giving power is here!

Leadership of Mother Corn.

I.
The Mother leads and we follow on.
Her devious pathway before us lies.
She leads us as were our fathers led Down through the ages.

II.
The Mother leads and we follow on.
Her pathway straight, where a stage each day
We forward walk, as our fathers walked
Down through the ages.

Guidance of Mother Corn.

I.
Looking o'er the prairie, naught our eyes discern there.
While the land stretches out before us:
Then we cry aloud to Mother Corn:
"Doth thy pathway lie here?"

II.
Heeding now our crying, while our eyes she opens,
Mother Corn moveth out before us
On the lonely prairie, where we see
Straight the pathway lies there.

A Hymn of Thanks to Mother Corn.

I.
See! The Mother Corn comes hither,
making all hearts glad!
Making all hearts glad!
(Give thanks, she brings a blessing;
now, behold! she is here!)

Yonder Mother Corn is coming.

II.
Yonder Mother Corn is coming, coming into us!
Coming into us!
Peace and plenty she is bringing;
now, behold! she is here!

Addressees Prayer.

Early next morning an elderly woman stood in front of the lodge and exhorted all the people to be in full accord, to put away from their hearts any feeling of discord, and from their minds any thought of grudge, and for all to be of one mind and one heart. Then she addressed a prayer to Tirawa (God) and to all the Universe to be compassionate to us all, Indians and white people alike, and to bless all Indians and white people who had taken part in this celebration, that we may all have success and happiness.

After breakfast the people promptly broke camp and drove to their homes and again took up their work. Next day they could be seen at work in haying and harvesting, and in cooking and drying for winter their green corn.

The celebration was a spectacle and an experience never to be forgotten. If one partly closed one's eyes, so that the figures and objects were but dimly seen, and extraneous modern things were excluded, one could see and feel the movement and procession of this venerable and impressive ceremony down through the generations and centuries from the distant past with all the human effort and accomplishment which it betokened.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

No sooner had Cob rung off, than Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's telephone rang again. Nick answered it this time. "Hello!" said he. "Who is it?" "Mr. Crow," came the voice. "Mr. Christ Crow Esquire." "Ask him what he wants," whispered the weatherman, so Nick did so. "Darkness!" croaked Chris. "Just as the corn gets ripe, doesn't Mr."

Moon swell up like a balloon and shine like a head-light! I call it cheeky. Darned! I'm afraid to go near the cornfield because there's a man there with a gun. He never moves, but he might. My friends tell me he's only a dummy called Scam-Crow, but I can't be sure. Anyway I'd feel safer without a moon." "I'll tell Mr. Sprinkle-Blow," said Nick politely. "I'm sure that he'll do what he can." "Thanks!" croaked Chris, ringing off. "So Cobb and Chris want no moon," said Sprinkle-Blow. "It looks as though the corn-crop might be short this year, doesn't it, kiddies. What shall I do?" Just then the phone tinkled again. This time Sprinkle-Blow answered it. "Hello!" It was Farmer Smith. "Say, Sprinkle-Blow," said he, "the moon's out and as bright and ready to go as we're going to have our first moon-cake tomorrow. Go and look! You can see Gentlemen and Black Mexican, and as sweet as honey. You couldn't leave the moon hanging out tonight, could you?" "Why?" asked Sprinkle-Blow in surprise. "You don't pick your corn by moonlight do you, Mr. Smith?" "No, but Don, my big dog, can pick out thieves if there is enough light." Sprinkle-Blow clicked his tongue in perplexity. "I'll do the best I can, Mr. Smith," he answered. "Some other folks have got in their orders first!" (To Be Continued)

Recall Cauldron

BY THE POT BOILER.

Prompt denials from the Frazier Lemke camp that a procession of resignations to defeat the I. V. A. recall election will follow were not unexpected. Doubtless the I. V. A. through its official organ will hurl a bitter defiance to the league counter charges that the recall election will be abandoned. Putting up straw men is an old political preliminary to the real campaign. Much of the propaganda printed from day to day is in the way of a curtain raiser for the real drama that is to come. There must be charges and counter-charges to whip the dogs of war into action.

Governor Frazier's interview with Velle of the Deere-Weber on an N. P. train was somewhat of a comedy of errors. Velle got his words crossed and took Frazier for an I. V. A. opponent of A. C. Townley. He commended Frazier and confessed to contributing to the various anti-Townley campaign fund. Governor Frazier used the story to add spice to the non-day luncheon held periodically to discuss the industrial program.

The Grand Forks Herald has been conducting a vigorous campaign against the investments of the Bank of North Dakota—will the doughty publisher give space to the $90,000 of frozen assets? tied up in the Grand Forks mill and elevator? The Pot Boiler's opposition to state operated utilities for profit has aroused a curiosity as to how the Grand Forks investment of nearly a million of the tax payers' funds will impress the Herald. Of course the I. V. A. program calls for completion and operation of the mill and elevator at Grand Forks. Both the league and the I. V. A. are a unit on that issue. Does it make a difference where the "credits are solidified?"

The Jamestown Alert sees some possibility of a third candidate for governor at the recall election—we quote in part from a leading article in that newspaper:

"Political gossip is rife these days, particularly with reference to the Nonpartisan League Camp. The main reason for this is that the League bosses, instead of meeting the issue, are doing their utmost to 'complicate' the recall election by resorting to political tricks," as one of the League-friendly papers puts it. "The latest thing in political gossip, being sent out as a 'feeler,' is that Usher L. Burdick has been chosen by the League bosses to save the bacon for the administration forces."

"In all the flock of rumors being brought to market at the present time one thing may be pointed to as an absolute fact; namely, that the League leaders have been scared out of their boots ever since the signatures to the recall petitions rolled over the seventy thousand mark, and now, when they are rapidly approaching seventy-five thousand, they have practically given up hope of killing the recall by scratching off names. Even the League machine does not expect to find a sufficient number of 'irregularities' not even by the active and willing assistance of the attorney general's department."

"When the recent 'feeler' about the possible resignation of Governor Frazier, Attorney General Lemke and Commissioner Hagan did not meet with the expected result, the ways and means committee of the League machine set about to discover new 'complications,' and the old standby of professional politicians, the third candidate, looked promising to them. As a result there is now considerable talk about Usher L. Burdick for governor."

"A personal friend of Mr. Burdick summed the situation up this way: 'Mr. Burdick finds himself between the devil and the deep blue sea. The League press has for some time used his name in such a manner that if readers cannot help but get the impression that he, and the Grabs Growers are supporting the administration in the recall election campaign I do not believe that Mr. Burdick is any more in love with the N. D. Day gangsters than he was with the old ones, but both he personally, and the great organization which he represents in North Dakota have suffered on account of this vicious propaganda. It is my opinion that Mr. Burdick does not like the publicity given him by the League press and that he should speak up one of these days.'"

F. S. diplomats wore uniforms in the early part of the nineteenth century.
